Why Cayuga?

- Richer, more complex flavor than commodity Pekin — prized by chefs for duck confit, breast presentations, and whole-bird roasts
- Striking black plumage creates dramatic whole-bird plate presentation unavailable with white ducks
- Heritage genetics mean slower grow-out, better fat distribution, and depth of flavor that commodity breeds cannot replicate
- Nationally ranked breeding stock — our birds win at APA Nationals, which means consistent breed quality
- Regional farm network means a traceable, local sourcing story for your menu
- Livers, necks, hearts, and feet available in separate packaging.

“I am an indigenous chef here in Kansas City and I use USA Duck Team products a lot! I love the versatility, and I love the friendliness of this whole team. I grew up in the Seneca-Cayuga Tribe, and this is the duck I grew up with.”

— Chef Melissa Garrett, indigenous chef, Kansas City

Limited Annual Production — Exclusive Opportunity

Our maximum annual production for the coming year is 900 birds. A single buyer who commits to volume can secure an exclusive regional supply of Cayuga black duck — a heritage breed your competitors simply cannot source. No minimum order. Contact us to discuss a supply agreement.
